Subject: STRUCON website — your input needed to complete the content

Dear [Name],

Good news — the new STRUCON website is built, and every page is in place.

You can view it here: https://strucon.vercel.app

Please do have a look through it before you start on the form below — seeing the pages makes it much easier to picture where each piece of information appears. This is a private preview link for your review; it is not visible on Google and has not replaced your existing website.

There is one step left before we can take it live: confirming the content is accurate.

Why we need your help

To build the site, we used everything available on your current website. However, a lot of that information appears not to have been updated for some time — as one example, the certification shown is ISO 9001:2008, a standard that was withdrawn in September 2018.

Where no information existed at all, we wrote realistic example text so you could see and review a complete, working website rather than empty pages. That example text is not factual, and none of it will be published. It is a placeholder, and every instance is listed in the attached form for you to replace.

What we need you to do

The attached Excel file lists all 145 pieces of information, with the text currently on the website shown next to each one.

1. Open the attachment and read the "Read Me First" tab.
2. Go to the "Content Form" tab.
3. For each row, read column D — this is exactly what the website says today.
4. Type the correct version in the yellow column E.
5. If something is already correct, simply write OK. If it does not apply, write N/A.

6. Save the file and send it back to me.

You do not need to fill in any other column, and you do not need any technical knowledge — it is all plain text.

Where to start

Please use the Priority column and complete the 49 rows marked "Critical" first. These are either required before the site can go live, or the text currently in place is not accurate.

The most important are:

- Your current ISO certificate — the site shows a version withdrawn in 2018.
- The four headline figures on the homepage (years, projects, engineers, countries). The current figures contradict each other: it says "26+ years" but also "founded 2003".
- Three real project case studies. The three currently on the site are invented examples we wrote as placeholders, with invented tonnages and clients.
- Real client names, testimonials and leadership team details — all are placeholders today.
- Which clients we may name publicly, and which must remain anonymous under NDA. Naming real clients is considerably more persuasive to prospective customers, so it is worth checking.

Files to send separately

Please also send these by email or a shared drive link — they do not go in the spreadsheet:

- Logo in high resolution (SVG, or a large PNG with a transparent background), plus a white version for dark backgrounds if you have one.
- A short video for the homepage banner — 10 to 20 seconds, no sound, no captions. Steel erection, a plant, or a 3D model walkthrough all work well.
- Photographs — completed projects, your offices, and headshots of the leadership team.
- Company profile PDF — the website has a "Download Company Profile" button that needs it.
- Client logos — only those you have permission to display.

One legal point

The Privacy Policy and Terms of Use pages currently contain standard drafts. These must be reviewed by your legal advisor before the site goes live — we are not able to provide legal advice on them.

Timing

Could you let me know when you expect to return the completed form? Once I have it, I will need approximately [X working days] to apply everything and prepare the site for launch.

If any row is unclear, or you would prefer to work through it together on a call, I am very happy to do that — it is often quicker than filling it in cold.

Kind regards,

Shorter version (if you'd rather keep it brief)

Subject: STRUCON website — content form attached

Dear [Name],

The new STRUCON website is built and ready — you can view it here: https://strucon.vercel.app (a private preview for your review; it is not on Google and has not replaced your current site).

Before it goes live, we need your help confirming the content is accurate.

To build it, we used what was available on your current site — but much of that has not been updated for some years. Where information was missing, we wrote realistic example text so you could review a complete website. None of that example text is factual, and none of it will be published.

The attached form lists all 145 items, showing exactly what the website says today.

To complete it: open the "Content Form" tab, read column D (what the site says now), and type the correct version in the yellow column E. Write OK if something is already right, or N/A if it does not apply.

Please start with the 49 rows marked "Critical" — most urgently your current ISO certificate, the four homepage figures (which currently contradict each other), and three real project case studies to replace the invented examples.

Separately, please send your high-resolution logo, a short homepage video, project and team photographs, and your company profile PDF.

Please also note the Privacy Policy and Terms pages contain standard drafts that your legal advisor will need to review.

Happy to walk through the form together on a call if that is easier.

Kind regards, [Your name]
